

BermudAir Expands with New Direct Flights to Baltimore and Orlando

Strengthening East Coast Presence, Tickets Available Now for Flights Between Bermuda and Five U.S. Destinations

HAMILTON, Bermuda, January 24, 2024 – BermudAir, Bermuda's premier boutique airline, today announced the addition of Baltimore and Orlando to its growing route network, now serving five key U.S. East Coast cities, and offering greater connectivity to Bermuda. Travelers can enjoy direct flights with an average flight time of just two hours from Baltimore/Washington International Thurgood Marshall Airport (BWI) to Bermuda starting March 18, with service commencing from Orlando International Airport (MCO) on March 26.* Tickets are on sale now, and to celebrate the new routes, BermudAir is offering special fares on all its routes until January 31, 2024, starting at $99 one-way from the U.S. and $199 one-way from Bermuda, including taxes.

As the first Bermuda-based airline with year-round service, BermudAir continues to redefine travel, providing seamless connectivity between Bermuda, the U.S. East Coast and South Florida. Baltimore serves as a strategic gateway to the vibrant Baltimore, Northern Virginia, and Washington, D.C. metropolitan areas. This expansion not only enhances two-way traffic but solidifies BermudAir's presence in this crucial East Coast corridor and provides greater connections and convenience. Additionally, the new Orlando service complements BermudAir's existing service in Fort Lauderdale, providing a robust Florida presence and facilitating more direct connectivity and flights between the sunshine state and Bermuda.

"The addition of Baltimore and Orlando to our network is a clear indicator of BermudAir's ongoing growth," said Adam Scott, Founder and CEO of BermudAir. "This expansion demonstrates our dedication to meeting our passengers' needs and strategically enhancing our service offerings, based on continual market feedback and evaluation. It's a significant step that elevates BermudAir to new levels of service and reach."

Leadership representatives from BWI and MCO welcomed this development and establishing a relationship with BermudAir.

"We are thrilled to welcome BermudAir and this premier service to the island paradise of Bermuda," said Ricky Smith, Executive Director/CEO of BWI Marshall Airport. "BermudAir is growing quickly and creating new opportunities for tourism and economic development. Our customers will appreciate the airline's quick and easy access to Bermuda's natural beauty, culture, and history."

"Our region's continued growth depends upon the investment and vision of airlines like BermudAir," said Kevin J. Thibault, Chief Executive Officer of the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority, which operates Orlando International. "Orlando International Airport is a premier multimodal facility and this new air service helps us to deliver more choices to passengers."

BermudAir will operate Embraer E175 aircraft on the routes, featuring a dual-class cabin, with 14 seats in a business cabin and 52 seats in an economy cabin. Committed to delivering a premium in-flight experience, both cabins will provide superior customer service, complimentary food, and beverage service (inclusive of alcohol), and exceptional comfort throughout the journey.

The business cabin service will offer increased booking flexibility, higher checked baggage allowances, preferential fare conditions for changes and cancellations, and more.

With the addition of Baltimore and Orlando, BermudAir's growing network now connects Boston Logan International Airport (BOS), Westchester County Airport (HPN), Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport (FLL), Baltimore/Washington International Thurgood Marshall Airport (BWI), and Orlando International Airport (MCO) to the L.F. Wade International Airport in Bermuda (BDA).
